

BUSINESS STILL IRREGULAR FOR THIS DISTRICT

Purchasing Very Cautious but Holidays Help Wholesalers—Employment Good—Coal Production Curtailed

FARM PRODUCTS MARKET— ING ON LIBERAL SCALE

By Associated Press.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Nov. 30.—Business continues irregular in the Eighth Federal district, according to the monthly report of the St. Louis Federal Reserve Bank, issued today.

Reports indicate a fair activity in some lines, but a slower tendency in others, the uncertainty as to styles being reflected in the shoe and wearing apparel markets, asserts the report.

Purchasing is on an extremely cautious basis, the report adds, although the demand from the ultimate consumer is holding up well, and the quality of merchandise called for is good. Reports relative to the winter wheat crop are favorable.

"In the immediate past, however, there has been some reaction on the part of the public against price advances in textiles, particularly in the case of goods based on cotton," the report continues.

"Wholesalers showing holiday goods report results in the main satisfactory, though the volume of future ordering is somewhat under that of past seasons. The advent of cooler weather has served to stimulate the movement of typical winter merchandise, with the exception of fuel, which continues dull. There were further recessions in the output of certain manufacturing lines, notably iron and steel.

Changes in the employment situation were marked, and largely seasonal in character. Road building and farm labor requirements are still a big factor in the call for unskilled labor. In the lead and zinc mining areas activity was fairly well maintained but the lack of demand for soft coal is reflected in further curtailment of production in all fields of the district. Many mines in Southern Illinois have been working only two to three days per week.

"Marketing of farm products has been on a liberal scale, and while prices realized by producers were not uniformly satisfactory, agriculturists in many sections are liquidating their indebtedness. The recent advance in cotton prices is reflected in increased optimism and actual purchasing of commodities in the South. Wholesalers in the chief jobbing centers report an unusually heavy volume of reordering by southern customers. In many important cotton growing sections however, the output is very light, and the movement to market is slow, due to lateness of crop and lack of demand from consumers. Tobacco, both in the burley and dark sections, is being stripped and prepared for the markets, which will open during the next few weeks.

"Reports relative to the winter wheat crop are in the main favorable. The plant has a good stand and color, and with ample moisture in the soil will go into the winter in a strong position. Husking and cribbing of corn is making good progress, but is unusually late. Reports relative to quality reflect very uneven conditions.

"Approximately 50 per cent. of the rice crop in Arkansas has been harvested and shocked, and rice being stored or marketed is in excellent condition. Demand is strong and market conditions all that could be desired.

"The total production of tobacco of all types in Kentucky is estimated at 476,250,000 pounds against 446,250,000 pounds in 1922. The Tennessee tobacco crop totals 111,510,000 pounds against 94,250,000 in 1922. Indiana produced 10,800,000 pounds against 10,200,000 in 1922. For the first time in many years, tobacco was grown commercially in Boone and Benton counties, Arkansas. In Missouri tobacco yielded 1,100 pounds to the acre or 7,700,000 pounds against 4,500,000 pounds in 1922.

"In the matter of car loading, the performance of railroads operating in this district continues to surpass all previous years for this particular season.

"Reports relative to collections show rather spotted conditions, particularly with reference to locality. In the grain sections the liquidation of crops has resulted in extensive settlement by farmers, and in the cotton sections payments have been made on a satisfactory scale."

PRIZES FOR CITIES WITH COMMUNITY HEALTH SERVICE

An important cooperative enterprise of the U. S. Public Health Service is the establishment of a joint office with the American Public Health Association where health officers and others can obtain the latest scientific information on municipal health department practice. The American Public Health Association has had a Committee for three years studying this subject. The work of the Committee was generously financed by the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company and the U. S. Public Health Service has set its official seal of approval on its work by cooperating in these studies and publishing through the Government Printing Office, the Committee's complete report. This report is the record of a survey, begun in 1920, of health department practices in eighty-three of the largest cities of the country. The results of the survey are summarized in the publication and constitute a manual of public health procedure of incalculable merit.

The establishment of an office of administrative public health in Baltimore, under the direction of Surgeon Paul Preble, is the next step in its scheme of cooperation. Here information already obtained by the Committee will be placed on file and will be kept up-to-date as Dr. Walton S. Rankin's time will be spent in the field visiting cities for the purpose of assisting such as desire his services, in organizing various branches of their health work. The data in the Baltimore office and Dr. Rankin's services will be available at all times to any city that wants guidance in developing its local health work. A system of grading cities as to their effectiveness in health work will be devised, as a basis for determining the three cities that are to be awarded for the most complete community health service. The awards are offered by the American Public Health Association, and will be presented at its fifty-third annual meeting in Detroit in 1924.

The two passed on, leaving the cafeteria force smiling broadly. The apples were half-boiled eggs made to resemble apples by the application of red cake coloring.

The liquor was found in a truck belonging to Will and Harry Ball which had been backed up to Tim Ball's back door. The truck has been confiscated by officers, in accordance with the state prohibition enforcement law, but Will nor Harry Ball have not yet been implicated in the matter.

WOUNDED SERVICE MEN CARED FOR

State Just As Solicitors Now As When Boys Returned From War Victorious

FRANKFORT, Ky., Nov. 30.—The native son of Kentucky, who saw active service in the World War and still wears a mark of the battle fire therefrom, today was well taken care of and attended—just as solicitously by the state as when years ago he returned home amid speech making parades, and victory jubilees.

A statement in the hands of B. T. Brewer, secretary of the State Board of Charities and Corrections, today so testifies.

"Under an agreement with the United States Government, all ex-service men are committed to our state hospitals are to be transferred to the Central State Hospital at Lakeland where special instructions and materials are provided by the federal government for the training of these men in occupational work," Secretary Brewer declared.

"In addition to this, we receive, under a contract with the government, pay at the rate of $1.50 a day a man for the care and treatment of such men as are entitled to government compensation for disabilities incurred as result of their war service."

The statement before Secretary Brewer today showed that 46 men were enrolled at the Central State Hospital.

"Five separations have left us with 11 men, of whom eight are working in various hospital industries, such as printing, farming, brushmaking and stove room work," Mattie W. DeMeer, occupational director of the United States Veterans' Bureau at Lakeland reported. "Thirty-three are in the ward classes of basket making, rug and pattern weaving, knitting, macramé, and other textile work."

A Thanksgiving party will be given the disabled veterans. They still remember last month's Halloween party, given by the ladies of the American Legion Auxiliary.

M. H. S. LOSES THANKSGIVING FOOTBALL GAME TO PINEVILLE YESTERDAY BY SCORE 24 TO 0

Game Fought In Sea of Mud—Local Boys Having Losing End All Way Through—Earl of Pineville Star of Game

LARGE CROWD ATTENDED FORM HERE, DRIVE IN PROCESSION

(By Glenn Herd)

Pineville defeated Middlesboro at football yesterday before a crowd of 1300, on a field of mud three inches thick, by a score of 24 to 0. It was a hard fought game throughout, Pineville playing the best game in a clean and consistent manner.

Middlesboro turned out bravely to the game. At least one hundred cars, decorated in yellow and white, and including two jazz bands, drove in procession to Pineville. A number of other local people went on the train or in busses. Pineville, too, had a parade headed by a horse and a truck on which was a tombstone with the inscription, "Here Lies Middlesboro, however was all before the game."

David Earl of Pineville was decidedly the star of the game. His sensational return of a forward pass in the fourth quarter for 52 yards and a touchdown won the praise of the crowd, Pineville and Middlesboro as well.

Faulconer of M. H. S. was the only man on the local team who played true to form. In every game that has been, he has played a clean, steady game all the time, never grumbling or losing heart. Gibson in the line made a number of commendable and Griffith made several splendid tackles. The loss of Van Beber when only half of the game had been played was a real blow to Middlesboro.

Pineville is to be praised for the game she played. This victory gives that team three consecutive victories and makes them champions of South-eastern Kentucky.

The gate receipts for the game were $1253 and $500 will be received for rain insurance, making a total of $1753. Half of this sum will go to Middlesboro after the expenses of the game are paid. It is reported that over 2,000 persons witnessed the game.

A THOUGHT

He that is faithful in that which is least is faithful also in much; and he that is unjust in the least is unjust also in much.—Luke 16:10.

I have seldom known anyone who described truth in trifles that could be trusted in matters of importance.—Paley.

REGARDING THE SOLDIER BONUS

The Monthly Business Review, just published, carries a discussion of the proposed bonus bill, sentiments in which we heartily endorse. We have never been in sympathy with the move to commercialize patriotism. No monetary reward could in any way repay the men for their service in the war. Why make of it a political and factional issue. We quote as follows from the Review:

Europe has been raising a smoke-screen of dissimulances for so long that for "the folks at home" to keep their eyes on domestic affairs. Peering through the murky skies that overhang the Ruhr and the Rhineland reveals nothing as ominous as the threat of the American Legion and numerous pettifogging politicians to pass the bonus over the heads, and against the wishes of the majority of taxpayers in this country.

Yet there are some hard-headed men down at Washington, who are willing to oppose the bonus on the grounds of common sense economy, and to say to the proponents of the bill, though their name be legion, "They shall not pass." Secretary Mellon's proposal to cut the Federal taxes by about a third of a billion dollars has now been revealed in detail, and it will be a venturesome legislator who attempts to oppose such a measure. "No bonus and lower taxes" sounds very good indeed in contrast to "Higher taxes for the sake of making patriotism a mercenary business." Most of Mr. Mellon's reductions will affect the lower grades of taxable earned incomes—the income of professional men, office men and white-collar men. The desirability of such a reduction is so evident that we venture to predict there will be no great amount of Mellon-cutting done by Congressmen who wish to retain their places in the official sun.

Then too, the proposed schedule of reductions seems eminently more sensible in other respects than those of defeating a dangerous bit of money-grabbing. The reductions on higher surtaxes will go far toward throwing out the capital now frozen in tax-exempt bonds, and restoring investment funds to their normal liquid state. The effect of such a move on the general trend of business will undoubtedly be favorable. The proposal to abolish the remainder of the nuisance-taxes, on theatre-tickets and other admissions, for example, will find general support. It would be difficult to recall another tax suggestion which has ever met with such general wholehearted approval.

NOT ALL SO BAD AS IT SEEMS

The Hardinsburg Record Press admonishes us not to be unduly alarmed at the so-called appalling increase in divorces and suicides. It is because they are unusual instead of the ordinary thing that we find them news, the Press says. The editorial goes on to say that it is a pretty good world, something we have occasionally thought ourselves. As one paragrapher recently said, it has survived countless thousands who thought it was tottering on the brink:

"We read of the murders, the divorces and the suicides, and we think it over and feel that truly we have fallen upon hard times. But we have to remember that where one man or woman applies for a divorce there are ten thousand more happy men and women married and living the lives of good clean citizens. When we read that some poor fool has blown out his tired brains we must remember that there are millions of other men who contemplate no such thing. When we read of a murder now and then we must not forget that millions of peaceful citizens dwell upon the earth and it is because it is out of the ordinary that we read of those who do desperate things.

"This old world is pretty much all right, of course now and then it seems a bit wobbly; now and then things do not go just as we had planned, but after all it is a great old place to live, and while here we should make the best of it by working out and looking upon the countless blessings and joys that are unfolding to view every hour and minute in each day, and hold more of our efforts to brighten up a few of those dark spots where a little sunshine of the real sort would be mighty welcome and render a world of comfort and good to human souls, right upon the brink of despair."

Berton Braley's Poem

CHANGELESS
Love lives, though all else passes.
The empires and the thrones
May fade like last year's grasses
And other withered things:
But love endures springs
In hearts of kids and lovers,
And youth forever sings
"Love lives, though all else passes."

War rules the world a season.
The clutch of gold is strong.
We know the rule of reason
But know it not for long;
Amid the pulsing throng,
The boiling, striving masses,
Still sounds this changeless song,
"Love lives, though all else passes."

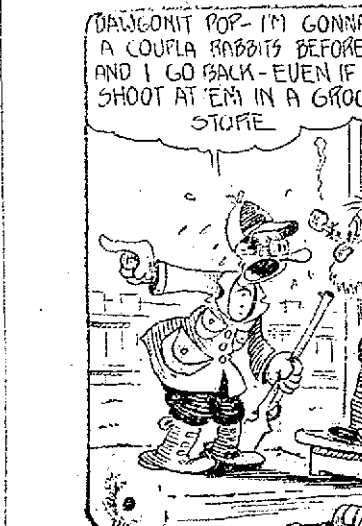

Dust of the desert covers
Troy, Babylon and Tyre,
But memories of their lovers
Still thrill our hearts with fire:
The conquerors expire,
Silent their drums and brasses,
But we know, heart's desire,
Love lives, though all else passes!

This was the next riddle that the Riddle Lady asked the people in Riddle Town.

"Ride a cock-horse to Banbury Cross. I know of something that bears my horse."

Eyes that glare brightly, a horn on her nose, bawling and wheezing wherever she goes.

Never wants fodder and never gets hay, yet thinks like an elephant's baby, they say.

Never needs shoeing—wears rubbery instead. Frank as she can be of odd as the head.

"Horn" a hand, but she has a firm clutch, so the absence of hands doesn't bother her much.

Neither owns she a foot yet she has a long step, and she speeds o'er the ground with much spirit and pep.

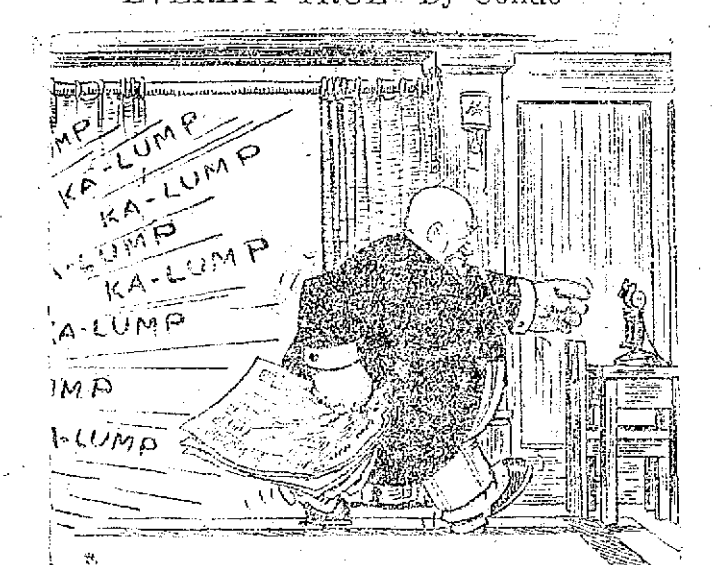

"This body's not vain, yet she wears a large hood, and she carries a fan as all real ladies should.

When it's wet she wears dimes, though they're not made of gold, and puts them on top of her rubbery P'm told.

"Glides along highways as though she had wings. Sometimes she hauls peasants, sometimes she rides kings.

I could sing of her praises all day without end. Her name is Miss Swift—no judge's bias or what have you?"

DWELLER IN MY ENDLESS DREAMS

You are the evening cloud floating in the sky of my dreams.
I paint you and fashion you ever with my love longings.
You are my own, my own, Dweller in my endless dreams!

You are rose-red with the glow of my heart's desire, Gleaner of my sunset songs!
Your lips are bitter-sweet with the taste of my wine of pain.
You are my own, my own, Dweller in my endless dreams!
With the shadow of my passion have I darkened your eyes, Haunter of the depth of my gaze!
I have caught you and wrap you, my love, in the net of my music.
You are my own, Dweller in my deathless dreams!

Big Thanksgiving Dance Last Night

The Thanksgiving dance at the Elks' Club last night was one of the best attended and most successful dances of the year. A large number of out-of-town young folks were there. A particular feature was the new orchestra, the Daniel Boone Syncopated, which made a decided hit and has been engaged to play at the Elks' Club every second Friday night for the remainder of the season. The orchestra is made up as follows: Don King, piano; Jim Ginsburg, banjo; Finley Cecil, saxophone; Howard Hambright, saxophone; Hoxer Cecil, trumpet, and Jim Dean, drums.

SISTER MARY'S KITCHEN

MEAT SAUCES

The clever cook looks carefully to the kind of sauce she will serve with her meats. No one would think of serving turkey without its cranberry sauce, but how many women think of adding the right touch to plain everyday boiled beef by serving horseradish sauce with it?

Fish is improved when accompanied by a sauce. Oyster, egg, lemon, bechamel and brown sauce add much to any fish.

Roast veal, which in and of itself is a tasteful meat, gains interest and flavor if served with tomato or onion sauce.

Boiled mutton and caper sauce are quite as inseparable as roast pork and apple sauce.

As there are some people who absolutely object to meat sauces, the sauce should be served with the meat, not over it. This was the full flavor of the meat is preserved and the sauce acts as a complement to the meat instead of overwhelming the meat juices.

Meat stock, drawn butter or white sauce form the foundation for most sauces.

Caper Sauce

One and one-half cups drawn butter; sauce, 1 cup capers, 1 table spoon liquor over capers.

Add capers to sauce with the liquor in the bottle. Let simmer until hot and serve in tureen.

Drawn Butter Sauce

Six tablespoons butter, 3 table spoons flour, 1½ cups boiling water, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon pepper.

Melt butter in sauce pan, stir in flour and make perfectly smooth. Add water slowly, stirring constantly. Season with salt and pepper and boil three minutes.

Onion Sauces

One and one-half cups milk, 1 cup cream, 3 tablespoons butter, 2 table spoons flour, 3 medium sized onions, 1 teaspoon salt, one-eighth teaspoon pepper.

Peel onions, put in cold water, and bring to boiling point and drain. Return to sauce pan with boiling water to cover and simmer one hour. When half done add 1 teaspoon salt. Drain onions and chop coarsely. Melt butter, stir in flour and when well blended slowly add milk, stirring constantly. Season with salt and pepper and add chopped onions. Simmer three minutes, stir in cream and serve in tureen.

Bechamel Sauce

One cup white stock, 1 cup cream, 2 tablespoons flour, 3 tablespoons butter, 1 small onion, 1 "bouquet-garni" (parsley, thyme, bay leaf), 6 pepper-corns, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon nutmeg.

Melt butter, stir in flour and slowly add stock, stirring constantly. Add all the remaining ingredients except the cream and let simmer half an hour. Rub through a strainer and reheat with cream.

Horseradish Sauce

One tablespoon flour, 2 tablespoons butter, 1 cup cream, 14 tablespoons finely grated horseradish, 1 teaspoon vinegar, 1 teaspoon sugar, 1 teaspoon salt.

Melt butter, stir in flour and slowly add cream which has been scalded. Cook, stirring constantly until thick and smooth. Remove from the fire, stir in vinegar, salt, sugar and horseradish and serve at once.

CHARMING MUSIC FEATURE OF "THE GINGHAM GIRL"

Playgoers with an ear for music that has a life and charm peculiarly its own will be delighted with the song hits of the musical comedy "The Gingham Girl," which Messrs Schwab and Kussel, its producers, will present to patrons of the Manning Theatre, on Wednesday, Dec. 5th.

The merry, jingly tunes are immensely popular with music and dance lovers of New York where the play ran a year, and they are still whistling "Love and Kisses," "Libby," "Tell Her While The Waltz is Playing," "The 2nd Street Strut," and several others. This popular attraction comes to this city with a fine production, a company of well known players including some of the Broadway company, the snappy, agile chorus whose interpretation of the dances invented and staged by Sammy Lee were the talk of the metropolis, and the famous "Gingham G..." soloists who will augment the local orchestra, lending pep and harmony to the tuneful score.

Appropriate, Indeed

The special preacher was asked if he would like any particular hymn to be sung to agree with his sermon. "No," he replied. "The fact is, I seldom know what I am going to say until I arrive in the pulpit." "Well, in that case," said the vicar, "we had better have the hymn, 'For those at Sea'."—Tit Bits. (London).

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

When the full-back cuffs on men's shirts become worn, cut at the middle. Reverse the part cut off, and sew back with the seam on the right side. When the cuff buttons are put in the seam is hidden and the least faded part of the cuff is on the outside.

When a broom wears down, cut the stitching (except the two rows nearest the handle) with a sharp knife run down between the staves, several weeks wear will be added to the broom.

Coal oil cleans a sink, bathtub, or bowl nicely and doesn't scratch. A little coal oil in the water with which windows are washed gives a brilliant polish, to the glass.

Use a little coal oil in the water used to wipe painted or waxed floors. This leaves no white marks, a soap is liable to do.

One half cup of coal oil poured over a room at the stitching brightens the colors of the colors of the carpet next sweep. Cleans like gasoline, but there is no danger of an explosion.

Time to take down all windows and door screens. Give each a coat of screen paint before storing for the winter. This adds a year or two to their usefulness.

Blankets that are thin in the middle, may be cut down the center; the sides cross-stitched together, and the edges button-hole stitched with yarn. Sheets may be treated the same way, but sewed down the middle, and hemmed on sides on the machine.

Several thin blankets may be laced together and covered, like a comfort. This makes a very warm cover for a child's bed.

WOOL JERSEY FOR SCHOOL

Now is a good time to replenish the school girl's wardrobe by the addition of another practical frock.

Wool jersey will probably be the material. It is ideal for school dresses—warm and durable. Flannel and serge are alternatives. Navy blue and brown are the favorite colors with bright red decidedly popular.

The dresses sketched are made in the two-piece style—skirts attached to mid-waists and blouses that slip on over one's head or button down the front.

Christmas Gifts

TABLE RUNNERS

Purple velvet is the foundation for the table runner shown here, with a strip of metallic ribbon fixed in the center. Silver beads and silver tassels complete it.

The runner below is of changeable satin bound on the inside with ribbons and on the outside with a corrugated pleat of dull gold metallic ribbon one-fourth inch wide. On either end is a 10-inch border of gold net, with ribbon bows interlaced in the net with a few leaves of metallic ribbon.

The green-and-gold lace caught in the meshes is made of wool yarn, in black and gold.

Red and Gold

A frock of red crepe is worn with a three-quarter length coat of black, solidly underlaid in red and gold.

Square Necks

Square necks are seen on the youthful frocks of black velvet, with very full or slightly draped skirts.

Magenta Trimmings

Magenta is one of the most fashionable colors this season for trimmings. It combines most effectively with black crepe, satin or velvet.

Dance Frocks

A dance frock that is most effective is of flame-colored chiffon with a rhinestone-studded bodice and many layers of chiffon.

Fluffy Scarf

Kit fox scarves are very popular and it is expected they will be more so in the spring. This skin is small but still has enough fluffiness to make it flattering without being banglesome.

Velvet - Ermine

Black velvet wraps, either capes or cape-coats, with ermine collars are equally smart for afternoon or for evening wear.

Bath Turbans
Attractive turbans are made of printed or patterned velvet, the colors being soft and blurred rather than striking.

PINEVILLE, Nov. 30.—Work at the new plant being erected by the Kentucky Utilities Co. is progressing rapidly here. Each day being men from every section of the country looking for work. More are to come according to reports from various surrounding towns. Houses for rent can hardly be found, and people are on the waiting list waiting for more to be built. A recent canvass disclosed the fact that there is not a single house in the city for rent, that is a desirable house, and no apartments, and the cost of upkeep on these is so enormous that the owners are compelled to ask unusual prices. This however does not seem to halt the growth of the city as new homes and buildings of every description are going up rapidly.

Your Health

FATIGUE

How many times have you had to refuse invitations to go somewhere or do something you really wished to do, because of being dead tired or fatigued?

Fatigue may be termed muscular, postural or nervous. Muscles in active continued use pour into the circulation chemical substances which strongly affect, by their stimulant action, the respiratory nerve centers. There is a direct connection between muscular action and nerve fatigue.

In addition to cell loss or waste by action of the muscles, there is also a complicated chemical waste production. By long continued or violent action this waste is thrown into the body circulation more rapidly than it is removed. In normal muscular action this so-called overloading is rarely apparent.

Loss of "pep" or fatigue through bad posture, is also of frequent occurrence. Careless, slovenly habits, or indifferent posture, bring this about. If the strain of pull is not too severe on the sacro-iliac joints (base of spine) and reflex action through the spinal cord not retarded, this cause will be greatly reduced.

The splanchnic (abdominal) circulation is repressed by bad posture and cannot carry the waste fast enough. It clogs the blood outlet. The nerves suffer and refuse to aid your muscles. Fatigue is the result.

Often drowsiness and general lassitude are from food disturbances, caused by bad diet or overeating. One must learn to avoid the excess of any one food element tending to this cause. It is not fatigue but bad diet. Do not eat heavy meals when fatigued.

A typhus like fever, believed to be transmitted by ticks, has been discovered in the foot hills of the northwest Himalayas.

We Can't Run Away

Why Not Take Advantage of That Fact?

A few days ago a woman asked our assistance in repairing a certain electric appliance.

It was an inferior appliance. It had been sold to her by a salesman who burst into town, "worked fast" and disappeared.

There was no one to reimburse her, no one to make proper adjustment.

A local merchant would not have sold her that inferior appliance.

This Company—which submits all types of appliances to careful tests—would not have sold her that appliance.

And if we had, by error, she could have found us—like your other local merchants—right here in town, ready and willing to rectify that error.

If you haven't an Electric Vacuum Cleaner, you aren't taking full advantage of your Electric Service.

Let us bring a Royal Electric Vacuum Cleaner to your home and show you how it saves your time, your strength, and your health.

No obligations whatsoever for the demonstration.
